

A proud family business

Greg Parker's Ballarat Wildlife Park has been family-operated for over 35 years. We are proud and passionate with involvement in many important breeding programs and conservation projects. Our goal is to provide a quality interactive experience between people and animals for the promotion of respect, empathy, and understanding. We contribute to the survival of the environments we ultimately share with them.

Over 100 free-roaming kangaroos to hand feed

Conservation is at the heart of everything we do.

Ballarat Wildlife Park is passionate about protecting endangered species and educating our visitors about their plight.
